Do You Hear What I Hear? Priscilla Shirer Tells Us to Seek and Expect the Voice of God

by M. Kurt Goedelman

In 2002, Verizon Wireless launched an advertising campaign that featured a "Test Man" who traveled across the United States and who paused in various places to ask, "Can you hear me now?"<sup>1</sup>

Around the same time, author Priscilla Shirer began her own campaign telling us, "God wants to speak directly to each of His beloved children — not to just a few 'spiritual elite'."<sup>2</sup> It is as if God is saying, "Can you hear Me now?" and Shirer is there in a significant way to help us "hear His voice more clearly."<sup>3</sup>

Shirer and her writings are presented to believers with a great deal of enthusiastic praise and approval. For example, best-selling author Beth Moore — who calls Shirer her "soul sister in the study of God's Word"<sup>4</sup> — writes:

"God is all over this young woman. I know of no stronger, clearer voice for our ailing culture. When Christ speaks through her, we do well to sit up straight and listen."<sup>5</sup>

To that, Pam Case, director of LifeWay Women, adds:

"Priscilla digs deep into Scripture and pulls out life-changing nuggets that bring people to a whole new level of understanding God's Word and hearing His voice. Who wouldn't want to hear what our
